

videography

A wedding video is as close as you'll ever come to reliving this special day. The day passes by in a flash. You will want to watch as a couple, share with your children, and keep these recorded memories of those who grow-up, and unfortunately some who will pass. You will cherish your video for years, and potentially for generations to come. A professional videographer has the creative talent to capture, edit, and add emotion to make this a true masterpiece reflection of your wedding memories.

WHAT TO KNOW AND ASK

- What style of videography do you like?
 - How interactive do you want them to be with you and your guests?
 - Are you interested in raw footage or an artistically edited video?
 - Any special effects that you like or don't like?
 - Do they have samples of their work, and anything done specifically at your venue?
 - What formats do they offer?
 - Discuss the timeline of your day.
 - Discuss ahead of time what you want recorded and any special requests.
 - Are there any family dynamics the videographer should be aware of?
 - Know what is included in your package, number of cameras, what events of the day will be covered, emergency back-up plan, cancellation policies, overtime fees etc.
 - Are there any videos or photo montages you want created before the wedding as an engagement announcement, save the date option, or something to show at the reception?
 - Do you want live streaming for any guests who want to see it but unable to travel the distance?
 - How long will it take to get your final product?
- Do you want your rehearsal dinner filmed? If so, find out any additional costs for extra hours not included in the package.
 - Is a wedding highlight video included with the wedding film? The highlight video is a beautiful and emotional video to share with family & friends on social media.
 - Do you want special messages or well wishes from your family and friends filmed?
